Tigers Make Music

Mitchells keep time to the music, as Freddie, entertains his nephew, Freddie Mitchell. The fact that the younger Freddie has already a Hampden-Sydney sweater. Freddie Mitchell, native and Hampden-Sydney senior, has put number but not his ambition to be a football scored 51 points for H-SC during the season

"Any Boy Can Do It" Says Grid Star Mitchell

"Any boy who wants to play football badly enough and loves to play the game can do it," said Freddie Mitchell when interviewed this week by the TIMES VIRGINIAN.

Tabulation is unofficial, but it appears that Mitchell will be ranked 3rd in the state with his 51 points scored in this football season just concluded. He has been a star player with Hampden - Sydney for the past four years.

This season he caught three passes, totaling 89 yards. Fred kicked 11 out of 13 tries for extra points. He threw the ball for 34 completions totaling 410 yards.

This star Tiger of a highly-ranked Hampden - Sydney team said, "I never thought I would play varsity football." Main reason Mitchell's weight. In the 9th grade at Appomattox High School Fred weighed 105.

Coach Bragg, he recalled, let him play a total of 8 minutes his first year on the high school team. "Even if I hadn't played a single minute, I would have been back the next year trying out for the team," he said. "I love the game that much."

This same determination shows itself in many of Mitchell's activities.

His life, he says, is a history of "milkshakes and sandwiches" eaten by the dozen to try to put on weight. "Now my weight is no problem" he says of his 175 pounds. However, as each football season ends he sometimes has to be careful to keep in trim for other outdoor activities such as bird hunting, golf, and baseball.

Three trophies

Mitchell's record this year is fitting climax to awards he had already merited. He was named "Most Improved Player" his sophomore year, 1960.

He performed so well in the Acca Temple Shrine Bowl Game in Richmond last year that he was named "Outstanding Player."

This year the H-SC — Guilford contest earned him a trophy as "Most Valuable Player."

In Addition to Football

Although Fred is definitely a sports - minded athlete, he has many other activities on campus. Singing and music are important to him. He mentioned his enjoyment at being a part of the H-SC Glee Club.

Fred also has several part - time jobs including waiting on tables in the college dinning hall, being custodian of the gym, selling laundry contracts, and acting as a representative for a men's store. He sells ads for a high school tournament program, too.

Mitchell is a History and English major who wants to be a high school coach. "I've had some offers," he said modestly, but when pressed for details, said merely, "I just hope I can help other boys as much as my coaches have helped me."

Paper Napkins For Sale

Members of the Appomattox Womans Club are selling paper napkins for holiday parties and everyday meals. Mrs. George Collins, Spout Spring, is Ways and Means chairman for the club. She urges readers to order napkins now. Proceeds will help complete the tennis court in Appomattox and will provide recreation for teenagers and adults, say the ladies of the local club.

Vera Principal Retires

Mr. Clyde K. Caldwell, principal of Vera School retires after teaching 29 years and seven months. Mr. Caldwell has taught in Wise, Buchanan, Floyd, Montgomery, Tazewell and Appomattox counties. He began teaching in 1925 and has taught most every year since. He has spent most of his experience away from home. He is going home Sunday morning to spend the rest of his life with his devoted family. He plans to work at Coeburn where he lives as a salesman to supplement his teacher's pension. Mr. Caldwell says "his stay in Appomattox has been a nice one, and that he appreciate all the good people he has met here". Mr. Caldwell lives in Wise County at Coeburn.

Size and body weight are not the only factors in social standing of an individual bird. Aggressiveness is a factor and it is believed to be inheritable.

Generally speaking, the males and females don't compete between sexes for social standing — they compete among their own sex. "The males are dominant but hens will not readily submit to roosters who rank low in the male social order."

The report says the chicken psychiatrists advise:

"(1) After the peck order is established, do not unduly disturb the flock by introducing newcomers.

"(2) Supply sufficient feeding and watering space so the lower half of the peck order can get them."
